~~Variance Information~~

Request for Variance Information

The proposed garage would be for private residential use only on a property of more than an acre. It would not be used as a business, repair shop, or commercial facility and therefore would not generate customers, employees, commercial deliveries, unusual traffic, or ongoing commercial noise.

Any environmental concerns should also be limited and manageable. Issues such as stormwater runoff, drainage, erosion, tree removal, flood requirements, utilities, and setbacks can be addressed through normal building and engineering requirements. With substantial open space around the proposed garage and appropriate setbacks from neighboring properties, the structure should have little practical impact on the surrounding neighborhood.

The primary issue appears to be zoning rather than environmental, noise, or traffic impact. Because the proposed garage exceeds the city's normal size limitation for an accessory structure, a variance is required. However, exceeding a size standard does not necessarily mean that the garage would adversely affect neighboring properties.

The property's large size is an important consideration. Although the garage may exceed the normal accessory-building size ratio, there is ample land to accommodate it without crowding neighboring properties or creating the types of impacts that zoning regulations are intended to prevent.

We therefore respectfully ask that the variance be considered based on the actual circumstances of this property. The garage will remain strictly for personal use, will create no additional commercial traffic or activity, and will comply with applicable setback, drainage, stormwater, flood, and building requirements. Granting the variance would allow reasonable use of the property without creating a significant environmental, noise, traffic, or other adverse impact on neighboring properties or the surrounding residential area.

NARRATIVE

The concept plan that was included with the adoption of the PID for the DeMott Drive industrial development at PINs 81019 01067, 81019 01015 and 51015 01032 and the Development Agreement dated February 5, 2025, evidenced the drain field and well for the sanitary sewer and water improvements being located at the subject property on Towles Road [See Development Agreement enclosed]. It was believed at the time that the use of the subject property could be accomplished via easement agreement. As the petitioner was seeking permits for the work, the Chatham County Health Department has taken the position that the drain field must be located on the same parcel. We have tried to resolve it via easement but have been unsuccessful in getting the Health Department to agree. Therefor, we must recombine the lot to the remainder of the Project.

In connection with the recombination, the City Attorney and City Manager have asked us to add the subject property to the PID, rather than have a split zoned lot. This is the basis for this application.

Per our discussions with neighbors and Staff, we hare limiting the uses of the subject property to the current uses in RA1 as well as use as a drain field for the remainder of the Project.

This rezoning will put no traffic or have any other impact on Towles Road or the neighboring properties.

Dear Bloomingdale City Council,

We are sending this letter in hopes of clarifying what J&G Services is proposing to do regarding the water situation for Mr. Ray Demott's industrial park on Jimmy Deloach Parkway. According to Georgia EPD, if a well system serves no more than 10 services connections or a population of 25, for more than 60 days out of the year, then the system would not meet the requirements to fall under the purview of the state. With this regulation in mind, we are proposing to use an existing well on an adjacent property to serve 10 office building taps. To do this we would run a new 2 inch main and connect it with an existing 4 inch main that the office buildings are already tapped from. We would then sever that distribution main from the existing main going from the main well to the concrete plant and warehouse. These two separate systems would meet the criteria to not fall under the states purview. We were also made aware of the concern of whether the two separate properties had to be under the same ownership to use the water. After consulting with state regulators, we can confirm that no such barrier exists. As long as the above-mentioned regulation of taps and population requires are not surpassed, the proposed project is an acceptable solution. If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to contact us. Thank you for your time.

Charles

We don't want to withdraw it because we would be violating our contract with the Taylor family. Instead of indefinitely, let's table it until the meeting in mid October. By then we will know if we can reach an agreement with Bill and can either move forward or withdraw the application.

Thanks

Phillip

Sec. 74-40. - Designated truck routes.

(a)

Definition of vehicle classification.

(1)

There are eight classes of commercial motor vehicles in the United States, divided into three general categories: light-duty, medium-duty, and heavy-duty. Commercial motor vehicles or trucks that operate on U.S. highways can be classified based on their gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR) or axle configuration.

(2)

Given the complexities of determining weight, the city has selected axle configuration as the guidance to determine vehicle class.

(3)

The city prohibits the use of medium and heavy-duty vehicles, defined as commercial vehicles class 6 through 13, on routes not listed as designated truck routes in Figure 2.

(b)

Vehicle type definition.

(1)

The following vehicle type definitions shall be used to determine vehicle class, as defined by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) Traffic Monitoring Guide (TMG):

a.

Motorcycles—All two or three-wheeled motorized vehicles. Typical vehicles in this category have saddle type seats and are steered by handlebars rather than steering wheels. This category includes motorcycles, motor scooters, mopeds, motor-powered bicycles, and three-wheel motorcycles.

Passenger cars—All sedans, coupes, and station wagons manufactured primarily for the purpose of carrying passengers and including those passenger cars pulling recreational or other light trailers.

Other two-axle, four-tire single unit vehicles—All two-axle, four-tire, vehicles, other than passenger cars. Included in this classification are pickups, panels, vans, and other vehicles such as campers, motor homes, ambulances, hearses, carryalls, and minibuses. Other two-axle, four-tire single-unit vehicles pulling recreational or other light trailers are included in this classification. Because automatic vehicle classifiers have difficulty distinguishing class 3 from class 2, these two classes may be combined into class 2.

Buses—All vehicles manufactured as traditional passenger-carrying buses with two axles and six tires or three or more axles. This category includes only traditional buses (including school buses) functioning as passenger-carrying vehicles. Modified buses should be considered to be a truck and should be appropriately classified.

In determining information on trucks, the following criteria should be used:

1.

Truck tractor units traveling without a trailer will be considered single-unit trucks;

2.

A truck tractor unit pulling other such units in a saddle mount configuration will be considered one single-unit truck and will be defined only by the axles on the pulling unit;

3.

Vehicles are defined by the number of axles in contact with the road. Therefore, floating axles are counted only when in the down position; and 4.

The term "trailer" includes both semi- and full trailers.

f.

Two-axle single-unit trucks—All vehicles on a single frame including trucks, camping and recreational vehicles, motor homes, etc., with two axles and dual rear wheels.

g.

Three-axle single-unit trucks—All vehicles on a single frame including trucks, camping and recreational vehicles, motor homes, etc., with three axles.

h.

Four or more axle single-unit trucks—All trucks on a single frame with four or more axles.

i.

Four or fewer axle single-trailer trucks—All vehicles with four or fewer axles consisting of two units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

j.

Five-axle single-trailer trucks—All five-axle vehicles consisting of two units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

k.

Six or more axle single-trailer trucks—All vehicles with six or more axles consisting of two units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

Five or fewer axle multi-trailer trucks—All vehicles with five or fewer axles consisting of three or more units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

m.

Six-axle multi-trailer trucks—All six-axle vehicles consisting of three or more units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

n.

Seven or more axle multi-trailer trucks—All vehicles with seven or more axles consisting of three or more units, one of which is a tractor or straight truck power unit.

o.

Certain truck configurations utilize axles that can be lifted when the vehicle is empty or lightly loaded. The position of these axles, sometimes called lift axles, drop axles, or tag axles, affects the classification category into which the vehicle falls. To maintain consistency between visual and axle-based counts, the FHWA-TMG recommends that only axles that are in the dropped position be considered when classifying the vehicle. While this promotes consistency, it may induce difficulty when interpreting classification. For example, a vehicle may exhibit directional differences in vehicle classification even though the same trucks may be travelling one direction loaded (with axles down) and the other direction empty (with axles lifted). For the purposes of this Code, the axle configuration used to determine class will be based on the observed configuration at the time of the violation.

Class 1 Motorcycles		Class 7 Four or more axle, single unit
Class 2 Passenger cars		Class 8 Four or less axle, single trailer

Class 3 Four tire, single unit		Class 9 5-Axle tractor semitrailer

Class 4 Buses		Class 10 Six or more axle, single trailer
		Class 11 Five or less axle, multi trailer

Class 5 Two axle, six tire, single unit
		Class 12 Six axle, multi-trailer
		Class 13 Seven or more axle, multi-trailer
Class 6 Three axle, single unit

(1)

No vehicle defined as a commercial vehicle class 6 through 13 in sections 74-40(a) and (b) shall use the city streets, roads, etc., not listed in 74-40 (f), which is hereby incorporated herein and made a part of this Code by reference, a copy of which shall be maintained on file in the Office of the City Clerk unless exempt as defined in 74-40 (d).

(d)

(3)

Municipal, State, or Federal vehicles, wreckers on a call, and emergency vehicles plainly marked with emergency equipment are exempt from this section.

(4)
